

RUST-MAN FOR BRYAN FUNDS.

Democratic Nominee Chooses Wetmore for Finances.

Wetmore, a tobacco company millionaire, is slated for chairmanship.

His affiliation can easily be explained.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—Wetmore of Illinois is the choice of William Jennings Bryan for chairman of the Finance Committee. That was the decision brought to Chicago today when Mr. Bryan changes his mind and now says that the person who will head the money-raising part of the national Democratic campaign.

Wetmore is not exactly disinterested in trusts and corporations. He is a part of one of the largest in this country, the tobacco trust.

But he has been in his time a devoted trust buster and he is, while voting, he is a trust buster, and he is a trust buster.

Wetmore is a tobacco millionaire. He is also a close friend of Bryan. He proved it in 1928 when he was a generous contributor to the campaign fund. At that time, he was still fighting the tobacco trust.

More than three times that Wetmore has been fighting the tobacco trust. He has been fighting the tobacco trust for years.

Vanouwer (B. C.) Aug. 4.—For three days the people of Michel have fought for their homes with death at the door. This afternoon they were beaten at the game.

The city, the second in size of the devastated district of East Kootenay, started to burn in real earnest at dusk yesterday. Michel was saved from being a heap of ruins and smoke complete than Fernie, by tomorrow morning.

The train that pulled out for Fernie, said Mrs. Crossman, "but we found the heart of that town in flames when we reached it. The original intention had been to go through Michel, but shortly after leaving Fernie we heard that the Michel bridge was burned. The train then backed again to stop for the night between Fernie and Michel, going on its way back through the greatest danger, for we had to pass for a mile between blazing brush on both sides. The windows of the cars became so hot it was impossible to touch them. The heat and smoke were stifling. All this time the women were screaming and saying prayers at the top of their voices, and adding to the terrible confusion. After passing through this fire belt, the train reached a safe place and stopped for the night. While there condensed milk for the women and children was brought out from Fernie by volunteers."

The train returned to Fernie Sunday morning and the passengers found the fire had burned itself out during the night. The bodies of several little girls had been found in different parts of the city and there were doubtless many more that have not yet been recovered.

James Barclay passed through the night of terror at Michel. When he left there he believed there was little danger. The houses on the flat district back of the Great Northern depot were burning and the main town was likely to catch at any moment.

At 5 o'clock a large newspaper man and a telegraph operator still stuck by the Canadian Pacific instrument. The last message at 5 p.m., that the newspaper man sent was "many houses burning. Trains cannot get west from here. Railroad service west will be blocked indefinitely. To the east the line is clear. Will try to reach Crow's Nest before morning and forward news from there."

Supplies of all kinds are being rushed to the homeless of Fernie, and the work of rebuilding will be proceeded with at once. Every city in Canada and many in the border States, have volunteered aid in money or goods, and the red cross society of the United States will be adequately provided for.

Superintendent Hussey of the provincial police has been sent by the government to British Columbia to the fire-swept region, and is now in charge of the relief work in East Kootenay. One was a Scotchman who had been employed in the mines here and had not taken place.

The Dominion authorities have ordered a detachment of Northwest Mounted Police into the affected district for the purpose of preserving order, but so far the provincial authorities have been in control.

The large number of foreigners employed in the mines have given no trouble. Some believe the entire party has perished in the flames.

The only possible way of escape open to them was to the mountain range. If they succeeded, it will be several days before they could possibly reach Fernie by a circuitous route. No human being could undertake to reach them across the burned area at the present time.

No great danger is expected from the fire. The town is today surrounded and seriously threatened from the west. If the wind remains favorable there may be no loss, but with a strong west wind it would be impossible to save the town and the coal coke industry will be on a normal footing within a week.

A special correspondent of the Province, sent to Fernie, writes today from Nelson, B. C.: "I have just returned from a tour of inspection of the fire-swept region. The fire destroyed the new steel tipples of the Canadian Pacific coal mines to the top in January where four tons of dynamite stored on the hillside blew up, wrecking windows and doors. Otherwise only a few houses were destroyed."

"Many men are still missing from Fernie logging camp. Up to last night no word had been received from the town and thirty-three persons are still missing. Logging Superintendent Fred Waters, of the Elk River, fought his way through the flames. Many of the foreigners were panic-stricken and some of them must have perished."

"J. R. Jaffray, a director of the Crow's Nest Coal Company, states that the work will start today at Coal Creek. The coke ovens are unharmed and the coal coke industry will be on a normal footing within a week."

CALGARY (N. W. T.) Aug. 4.—Mrs. George Crossman, with her sister, Miss Maud Holman, came in from Michel last night. On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Crossman came to the first fire. She was raging in the brush was threatening the city itself. Hastily they collected a few things. Mrs. Crossman carried her little baby, took refuge in a fireproof warehouse where it was thought they would be safe from the flames which were then rising from every part of the doomed town. Soon, however, an awful shower of sparks descended from the burning place and had effect on the building and they decided to remove all the women with the children to a safe place. A train was being made up to carry them to some unknown place of safety. They determined to cross the bridge of smoke and flames, and the train. Mrs. Crossman and her sister, both soaked with water and the baby wrapped in a wet blanket, made the journey safely. Mrs. Crossman said and children of all nationalities, mixed together and sitting three and four on a seat. The men were shouting and frantic while hysterical women, separated from their children, were called to the town except from ones. Some were dressed in all their finery and others had scarcely anything at all to wear. There were children, some of them with their parents and some who had lost fathers and mothers in the confusion.

ALLISON DEAD.

Cummins will reopen the factional contests of the party.

CUMMINS LOSES NO TIME.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Gov. Albert E. Cummins of Iowa, tonight from the residence of his brother, E. F. Cummins, in Lake Forest, announced himself a candidate to succeed Senator Allison, successor of whose death had reached him a few hours before.

The Governor paid a high tribute to the career and achievements of his dead political rival, and then admitted his ambition to take the Senatorial seat left vacant.

"I shall certainly make an effort to succeed Senator Allison," said the Governor. "My friends believe me to be his logical successor."

The Governor declined to discuss the political situation more at length, though he added:

"Some one will be appointed at once to occupy Senator Allison's seat for the remaining months of his unexpired term."

It was suggested that he might resign and be appointed Senator by Lieut. Gov. Garret, and to this suggestion Gov. Cummins made no reply.

QUICK SUMMONS.

ALLISON'S END SHOCK TO ALL.

DEATH OF IOWA SENATOR CAME UNEXPECTEDLY.

Although Veteran Statesman Had Long Been Suffering from Ill Health, His Sudden Death Was Not Expected by Even His Closest Friends. Funeral May Be Held Friday.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

DUBUQUE (Iowa) Aug. 4.—Senator William Boyd Allison died in his home at Dubuque at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. With him at his bedside were members of his household and a physician. In a bulletin announcing his death Dr. Hancock and Lewis gave heart failure as the cause.

This announcement of the Senator's death came as a shock to his neighbors as few were aware of his illness. Though for the last two years Senator Allison was in declining health, and though he suffered the loss of much vitality during the present summer, no news had emanated from his home indicating the seriousness of his condition.

Senator Allison suffered from the severe form of prostatic enlargement, and a kidney affliction made relief even more difficult to afford. As is usual in such cases, the Senator suffered frequently from urinary retention and weakness. These ailments have frequently occurred of late. The last time he was in the hospital, he died, and finally resulted in the patient's death.

Senator Allison had been a sufferer for many years. For the last two years he required relief twice daily and was regularly visited by physicians. He consulted the most eminent authorities regarding his affliction but his advanced age prevented an operation.

The Senator died rapidly and close friends noted upon his return from Washington this summer, that his health condition was not as good as usual. It was known that it was but a question of time when death should claim him.

At an early hour this morning Senator Allison became worse. A physician was immediately called who pronounced the condition critical. About noon the veteran statesman lapsed into an unconscious condition, and at 1:30 p.m. passed away.

His bedside when the summons came were Mrs. Brayton, for years in charge of the management of the Senator's household, and Dr. J. H. Hancock, John T. McDonald of this city, and Dr. John T. Hancock, his attending physician.

Funeral arrangements will not be completed until tomorrow. The funeral will possibly be held Friday.

DISTINGUISHED RECORD.

THREE REFUSED RECORD.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

DES MOINES, Aug. 4.—Senator Allison was born at Ferry, O., March 24, 1852, the son of John and Mary Allison. His boyhood days he spent on the farm, which was his birthplace. During young manhood, he secured his education in Allegheny College, in Pennsylvania, and in Western Reserve College of Ohio, in Cleveland. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society at Allegheny and at Western Reserve. He was admitted to the bar in 1876. He was married to Miss Anna Carter of Wooster, O., at Ashland, Ohio, in February, 1878. From 1880 until 1887 he practiced law in Ohio. In 1887 he moved to Dubuque, where he took up the practice of law.

Senator Allison was a delegate to the Republican State Convention in 1889 and to the National Republican Convention in Chicago in 1896. He was a member of the Governor's staff during the Civil War and organized troops to fight for the integrity of the nation in 1861. He was elected to Congress in 1870 and served continuously until 1871. In 1872 he was elected United States Senator from Iowa, and represented his State in this capacity until the time of his death.

MANY LIVES SAVED BY ACTS OF HEROISM

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 4.—Many acts of heroism are reported during the two and a half hours when Fernie was like a seething furnace. W. T. Healy of West Fernie, while crossing the traffic bridge over the Elk River, saw a woman and child in the water, and in the dust, and on picking her up discovered that she was alive. He put her on his back, retraced his steps, and in some way reached the bridge and handed her to one of the firemen.

Charles Erickson of West Fernie, a carpenter, found a young girl who had just risen from a sink bed, sitting in the door of a cabin, holding a small baby in her arms. He did not know what had become of her parents, and the fire was fast coming upon the cabin. Erickson seized the girl, who was clothed only in a night gown, and under one foot she held the other, and carried them to the Great Northern tracks below the fire.

Two other little girls, who had lost their parents, were taken to safety, after which he returned and found two old women in a cabin. One of the women refused to leave the house, and Erickson was obliged to take her to one of the boats to save her life.

An old woman, 90 years of age, was carried by John J. Moore, a blacksmith, to the Fernie Steele brewery belonging to the Crow's Nest Coal Company's office, over a mile from the scene of the flames, telling her rescuer to devote his time to saving more useful people.

WIFE WIRED FOR MONEY.

Her Husband Made Quick Trip and Best Companion With Whom He Found Her.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GLENWOOD SPRINGS (Colo.) Aug. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Instead of sending money as his wife had requested, E. H. Moore, a well-known estate dealer of New York paid a flying visit to this resort and finding Mrs. Moore in company with Frank Cottrell, also of New York, a flat fight between the two men ensued, both men were badly damaged and were arrested. Cottrell had since disappeared.

According to Moore, his wife left home at 10 o'clock. The husband was unable to get even a clue to her whereabouts until she wired last week that she was in New York. To get money, Moore made a short trip to Glenwood himself.

SAW PHOTOGRAPHY BORN.

August Brassart, Who Died in St. Louis, Assisted Daguerre in His Discoveries.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WATERBURY (Conn.) Aug. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] August Brassart, now deceased, was a former resident of this city and the craftsman whose skill finally enabled Daguerre to complete his process for the taking of Daguerrotypes. Daguerre worked four years at his scheme for making sun pictures upon silver plates, but was not believed. Brassart, then a friend in Paris, sought out Daguerre, volunteered his services, and made the first satisfactory plate. When the first successful picture was made Daguerre embraced his assistant and painted in his arms.

Albert H. Heisel, a seaman of the battleship Wisconsin, has been missing from that vessel since July 31. He was last seen at 7 a.m. that day.

Testimony given before a board of investigation which inquired into the seaman's disappearance showed that he was suffering from melancholia since July 31. It is believed the man committed suicide by jumping overboard.

PROSECUTORS ORGANIZE.

District Attorneys of State Getting Together in Body to Aid Them in Their Duties.

Nobody but a District Attorney will be eligible for membership in a society now in the process of formation. It is to be a sort of offensive and defensive alliance of the county prosecutors of California. By common consent, the preliminaries of organization have been placed in the hands of Capt. J. D. Fredericks, District Attorney of Los Angeles county. Most of the prosecutors of Southern California have already allied themselves with the movement—among others the District Attorneys of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Although such an association has, in a way, been a "long felt want," the particular impetus was a speech made by Capt. Fredericks at the last semi-annual banquet given in Los Angeles to the Justices of the Supreme Court.

On that occasion, he voiced a hot protest against the handicap placed in the way of the prosecutor of a criminal case, and called attention to some of the more flagrant ills of the jury system.

Out of the letters of congratulation and commendation written by other District Attorneys has arisen the idea of this association. So far, it has not extended north of the Tehachapi, but will undoubtedly take in all the attorneys of the State in time.

The first meeting of the association probably will be in September, and the particular object of that meeting will be to frame certain requests to be made of the next session of the State Legislature.

Among other reliefs sought is some change in the laws of legal presumption. As it is now, so many presumptions stand in favor of the defendant that the effect is of a irritating ledge that the prosecutor must surmount before he can even get in sight of the accused. Some informal action will no doubt be taken in regard to the stand to be taken by District Attorneys in recommending pardons—a constant matter of harassment.

SUN SUCTION.

SCIENCE WILL TAKE A HAND.

EVAPORATION OF SALTON SEA TO BE MEASURED.

Government Experts Prepare to Find Out How Long It Will Take Desert Ocean to Disappear—Said to Be There Will Always Be Water in Imperial Valley Basin.

How fast is Salton Sea drying up? How long will it last? These extremely important questions the United States government purposes answering in a thoroughly scientific way. Prof. F. B. Bigelow, one of the ablest mathematicians in the United States Weather Bureau, has been assigned to determine the problem of evaporation of the Salton Sea.

Prof. Bigelow will be assisted by local Weather Forecaster A. B. Wollmer and a corps of men; and for two years or more scores of delicate measurements will be taken night and day. A mass of statistical information will be gathered, which in the hands of tabulators will be arranged in scientific order; and, in turn, these computations will be placed before Prof. Bigelow and staff, who will make the final answer to the knotty question of the rate of evaporation of Salton Sea.

On the greatest broad scale, under which the work is to be pushed, great expectations have been raised that important and lasting results will be obtained. There is a government appropriation of $50,000 for this study. Stations will be established also at Indio, Mecca, Brawley, Mammoth, and in what is known as the plateau country; that is, Wyoming and States of similar topography.

That there has been a recession of Salton Sea is conceded. It has lowered, somewhat, from its highest point during the past year. At the local weather bureau, yesterday, no opinion would be hazarded by Mr. Wollmer or his assistants; but it was granted that Salton Sea would, so far as the present outlook warrants an opinion, eventually reach a stage in which low and supply will counterbalance each other. As to the approximate size of the sea, finally, there is no data at present for a definite answer.

Details of measuring the rate of evaporation of Salton Sea bring up a highly scientific problem. To the lay mind, the plan, generally speaking, may be expressed best by reference to the work of irrigation engineers. The amount of water it takes to irrigate an acre and the volume of water at hand may be known; but he does not know, except with a wide margin of error, how fast the sun is licking up the supply.

Tables of varying correctness have been made by various mathematicians, to determine what is called a "formula for evaporation." But all these tables have proven faulty. The government has an exceptional field, at Salton Sea, to answer numerous scientific requests for a correct formula, and to make this formula generally applicable, the Salton facts will be studied in connection with many others throughout those parts of the Southwest in which conditions may be grouped.

Incidentally, many other facts will be recorded, concerning Salton Sea, that will furnish scientific basis for accurate knowledge of the probable conduct of the sea, for years to come. Conditions at Salton Sea afford an unusual opportunity for these delicate observations. The body of water is extensive; the temperature is high, the humidity is low, there are also brisk winds. All these factors make what is called a "thirsty atmosphere," one that absorbs moisture rapidly.

Already, there is a preliminary camp of observers at Salton Sea, and at the Los Angeles Weather Bureau plans are being drawn for the necessary construction work.

When these plans are accepted at Washington, construction will be pushed as rapidly as possible and observations begun. The work will be under active way within a few months. Wooden towers forty to fifty feet high will be built under direction of Prof. Bigelow. The evaporating pans will be from two to six feet in diameter, and will be placed at different levels. The amount of water will be carefully measured at stated intervals, day and night, and the loss by evaporation carefully noted.

The observations will also include the temperature of the air, velocity, and direction of the wind, dew point at the surface of the sea, also above it, at certain elevations. All these facts will then be combined to establish a formula of evaporation, which shall express the rate or capacity of evaporation, under given conditions. This formula will be of greatest importance to all hydraulic engineers.

It will take several years to gather the facts, and a staff of six or eight men will be constantly on the ground.

HEARST'S PROCESS IS SUCCESS.
The Immense Saving on Goldfield Ores.

Concentrates Treated at Low Cost.

Process Escapes Chance of Apex Suit.

Wingfield, vice-president and chairman of the Executive Board of Goldfield Consolidated Mining Company, who is a guest at the Alexandria Hotel, brings some interesting information regarding the process in ore reduction being carried on at the old mill at Goldfield under the name of his company. He says that the process has been evolved by an entire revolution in the method of treatment of Goldfield ores.

The exact particulars of the process are unobtainable until application for patents have been perfected and until the secret is contained in a solution which the concentrates are subjected after being reduced to a very fine pulp in tube mills. The process is a variation of the process known as the "Wingfield" process, in the employ of the Consolidated Company and the process has been carried on under supervision with the assistance of Mr. Mackenzie.

The Elmer Mill has a total capacity of about thirty tons, but the concentrates, which cover a period of weeks with three weeks of actual runs, have been confined to less than ten tons. The figures show a saving of from 50% to 60% of the assay value at a cost of about one-third of the cost of the concentrates running from $200 to $400 per ton. The process is being treated at a cost of about one-third of the cost of the concentrates running from $200 to $400 per ton.

At the last meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Mines the following new members were elected: W. Arthur Phillips, Edmonson, Edgar M. Wardwell, D. W. Tugate, Southern California Box Company, W. V. Smith, Tracy H. Smith, Maginnis, Albert H. Beach, Frederick Grundy, all of Los Angeles.

THE NEXT THING.
EACH TOWNS EAGER FOR CONSOLIDATION.
Great Impetus to Movement for City and County Unification—Legislature Will Enact the Needed Law—Political Opposition Has Disappeared.

HEARD by the triumphant campaign for good roads, the association in Los Angeles county favoring city and county consolidation, the movement for unification has again moved forward.

Delegations from Long Beach and San Pedro have recently come to meet Mr. Butler yesterday, and urged of me to show them a way by which they might forward the plan of consolidation which our committee outlined two years ago.

These delegations are composed of the very men and interests that fought us so fiercely when we were first outlined. They have now made their commitments to us in just two years of time, and more than that in opportunity, by holding the water front has been running. Yesterday afternoon some of the citizens of San Pedro who came to the meeting of the Consolidation Commission and show them that they are helping in preparing bills toward uniting the two cities and desire to have something tangible before the primary elections, in that they may pledge the cause.

President Stewart of the Chamber of Commerce says that his greatest interest is in keeping consolidation in right channels. Mr. Stewart has made a careful study of the consolidation question as a member of the Harbor Commission. He desires all the cities on the San Francisco Bay to be in such form that Los Angeles shall be secured of a free harbor. For this reason Mr. Stewart is not making any active campaign for consolidation under a banner system. He thinks that the territory should be divided into a number of districts, each of which should be a unit in the city of the future.

TRANSPORTATION.
The active work on consolidation is directed at uniting this harbor at Wilmington and the "cheese" at Los Angeles. Mr. Stewart, "the still moon" says President Stewart is not making any active campaign for consolidation under a banner system. He thinks that the territory should be divided into a number of districts, each of which should be a unit in the city of the future.

LEGISLATIVE.
Taft Republican leaders say that there will be a change in the personnel of the Los Angeles county delegation to the Senate and Assembly.

The largest game yesterday was made by the "filthy girl" in the contest, Ramona Cartier, who scored in 166 points with a 100 on the 11th hole. Ramona came to the desirable twelfth position. Here she crowded out the other girls, and she was the winner. Ramona has been the star of the team. She has won the strategic position in several of the previous matches. Her teammates, Santa Barbara, Grace Fyler of Upper High School, and Helen Hill of the High School, were also in the contest. Ramona has a chance to win the championship if she can, for Ramona is working for a scholarship in the contest. She has a chance to win if she wishes to have a cash prize. Though Ramona is so very young, she has won the championship in previous years' experience in the Times scholarship work. Last season she won the championship in the Times scholarship work. WITH CIGARETTE AWAITS DEATH.

MAN CUTS THROAT, LIES DOWN ON BED AND SMOKES.

Surgeons at San Bernardino County Hospital say he may live—dependent because unable to get work—Good Roads Election Date Set—Murder Trial.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 4.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Oliver Guernsey, 31 years old, who recently came here from Louisiana, failed to find employment and attempted to kill himself today, at the home of M. E. Bernhardt at Redlands. He slashed his throat from ear to ear.

He was found lying on his bed, smoking a cigarette and calmly waiting for death. At the County Hospital tonight doctors stated that he had a chance for life.

The supervisors, today, adopted a resolution fixing the good roads election for September 17, when the county will vote on a tax for bonds for building seventy-nine miles of permanent roads to connect with those which Los Angeles has built.

IN HIS OWN DEFENSE.
Stanley W. Houghton, Justice of the Peace of Oro Grande, took the stand today, in his trial on the charge of murder in slaying Hieronymus Hartman, while the latter was fleeing from arrest. Despite the most strenuous efforts of Attorney F. M. Daley, special prosecutor, the witness could not be believed the man was running for a gun.

After giving the court and jury an account of his relations with Hartman, the first time they met, the witness testified that he had been told by certain citizens and others regarding Hartman as a desperado. The witness testified that he had been told by certain citizens and others regarding Hartman as a desperado. The witness testified that he had been told by certain citizens and others regarding Hartman as a desperado.

The witness testified that the Santa Fe agent at Oro Grande had come to him from sleep at an early hour in the morning, with the exciting news that Hartman was killing his wife and kidnapping the child. The witness testified that he had a desperate man to deal with, he slipped a pistol into his pocket, and took a club and handcuffs along.

Houghton had hoped to slip upon the fugitive and man and grapple with him, but Hartman was too quick for him, and then the race that ended in Hartman's death followed. Houghton said he believed the man was running for a gun.

Allegation is that the case will not be heard at the county court, but the witness testified that he had been told by certain citizens and others regarding Hartman as a desperado. The witness testified that he had been told by certain citizens and others regarding Hartman as a desperado.

His accusers said that the doctor, a married man, had posed as a bachelor, and that he and the school held at Fort Mojave, and all expenses. Dr. Bartlett made a strenuous effort to break down the charges, but was unsuccessful.

FINEST IN AMERICA.
Riverside Hotel to Have Mission Arches Superior to All Others.

YOUTHFUL BRIDE.
RIVERSIDE, Aug. 4.—A distinctive feature which is to be added to the Glenwood Mission Inn by Frank A. Miller is the building of a row of tropical mission arches along the curb line of the Seventh street frontage, with one each at the main street and Orange street entrances. These will closely resemble the arches at San Luis Rey and San Juan Capistrano.

By reason of their length and proportion, these arches will be the finest in America, being longer than the great arches at San Fernando. A. B. Benton of Los Angeles, who drew the plans for the hotel, is at work on the drawings, which call for arches with an average width between the piers of about twenty feet. These will be of brick and plastered to conform with the structure of the hotel, and will be partially covered with roses and flowering vines.
